INTRODUCTION

1.1 Research Goals The research is aimed determining the impacts of music on different people'Źs lives.

OBJECTIVES To determine the impacts of music on different people'Źs lives . To determine the role of music in society To determine the type of music listened to by most people. To find out reasons why people listen to music

Limitations and Next Steps

Limitations The research is limited to small geographical are therefore the results might not be very accurate in some instances Next Steps I plan to widen my research to cover a greater geographical area than the one I used in this research to ountry based and later on worldwide.

CONCLUSION

The most liked music types are R&B dancehall and reggae. Although the other music types suchas rock and country music are favoured by some people, their numbers are quite few compared to R&B dancehall and reggae. Most people listen to a specific type depending on their mood at a particular moment and the mood they expect to acquire after listening to that type of music. Also most people listen to music for fun
